

THE CENTRAL RECORD.

THIRTY SECOND YEAR

LANCASTER, KY., THURSDAY AFTERNOON, NOVEMBER 17, 1921.

NUMBER 32.

DO NOT CENSURE YOUR NEIGHBOR

For Exercising The Right You Reserve
To Yourself—To Vote As He Chooses.

Almost as sacred as the constitutional right to "Worship God in what-soever manner your conscience dictates," is the constitutional right of suffrage. Every person has the right to vote just as they please, and it is not our province to censure for their manner of exercising that right.

Some people are what some choose to call "hide bound," that is they would vote for a "yard dog" provided the dog was under the emblem of their particular party, and that is their right, some people draw party lines only in national races, or where party issues are involved, while others vote as their conscience may dictate, irrespective of party lines, and still others vote for the man, preferring to choose from among the candidates of both parties such men as they think will make the best of their time. There are a great many people, who especially in county races, prefer to vote for those whom they consider their friends.

None of these various methods have we the right to censure or condemn. We must vouchsafe to everyone the right which we reserve to ourselves, to vote just exactly as we choose.

Because a man, or a woman, belongs to "our lodge" or "our church," and we are a candidate for office, we are not of a necessity to expect that they will support us with their vote. Perhaps they deem someone else more fitted for the office to which we aspire, or perhaps the other claimant, in their estimation, has a stronger claim than we to their suffrage. He that as it may, they had a perfect right, and no right did, vote as they pleased. Just as you had a right and did. And above all things do not allow politics to engender hard feelings or interfere with friendships, for politics is changeable and fleeting, and a strong friendship is not easily won and should not be lightly held.

Therefore, we say, do not cherish ill feeling toward your fellow lodge-man or fellow churchman or your neighbor or friend because he or she did not vote for your favorite candidate, but rather did just as you yourself, voted as they chose.

In most cases the defeated candidate is an old hand at the game, and takes his defeat philosophically, remembering that the time may come when he may desire to make another race, and the censuring of those who failed to vote for him in his late unsuccessful try will most assuredly not be of material benefit to him in the future.

The election is over. Let us forget it and all of us endeavor to hold up the hands of our new officers, and as good citizens assist them in the performance of their duties, to the end that they may make as good officers as those who we would have had in their stead.

Haselden Has Small Majority.

Joe S. Haselden, for State Senator, defeated Joe E. Robinson, the democratic nominee, by less than 75, out of a possible 30,000 or more votes. It was a close race and Mr. Robinson made a wonderful fight. The district went 1,400 republican last year and 700 the year before, when women did not indulge in the right of suffrage. Mr. Robinson issues a manly card in his paper, the Lancaster Record, accepting defeat and thanking those who supported him. It is unfortunate for this district that he was defeated, but once isn't always and twice is not forever. He will represent this district in the Senate yet, and may be a little later will be governor of the greatest of all States. We hope so, any way.—Interior Journal.

REPUBLICANS

Elect County Judge In Lincoln.

Lincoln county did herself proud in the recent election, electing the entire democratic ticket with the exception of county judge.

Judge T. A. Rice, who has served Lincoln most acceptably as county judge, was defeated by Ben D. Bell, republican.

HEIDAL SANFORD POST CELEBRATES

Two Ball Games In The Afternoon

MEMORIAL SERVICES AT NIGHT

Members of the Heidal Sanford Post American Legion, celebrated Armistice celebration in Lancaster Friday with two big ball games and ended at the School Auditorium that night with memorial services in honor of the departed brothers, who made the supreme sacrifice in the great World's War.

Starting promptly at 12:45 the Legionnaires of the County assembled on the Square, where they marched to the Leavell field, where they played the Paint Lick boys and defeated them by the score of 21 to 0.

The second game was followed immediately between the Lancaster High School team, who defeated the Lebanon H. L. by the overwhelming score of 53 to 0.

Between the two games the girls basketball team entertained the crowd.

Rev. L. N. Thompson delivered the address of the evening at the High School Auditorium. He paid high tribute to the service men and made a most excellent address.

The program consisted of several beautiful songs rendered by the girls' glee club of the High School, together with the Legion quartette.

Rev. Willie P. Rogers, Vice Commander opened and closed the meeting by prayer.

Attending I. O. O. F. Grand Lodge

Mr. George Smith, Jr. is in Maxville this week attending the Odd Fellows Grand Lodge as a representative from the local lodge. Mrs. Smith accompanied him for a visit to her old home.

Fox Hunters At Crab Orchard

The annual meeting of the Fox Hunters' Association is in session at Crab Orchard, the meet to last ten days. About two hundred are in attendance, with the largest number of dogs ever seen at a meeting. The weather is ideal and lovers of the chase from all directions are enjoying the meeting to the fullest extent.

First Time Home In Eighteen Years.

Mr. Allen O. Burnside, who was here last week for a short visit to his brothers, Messrs. J. A. and J. H. Burnside, has not visited the old home in eighteen years. He is located in northern Indiana. He and his boss had run down to Louisville to buy "feeders" and took an extra day to run down here and see "finger" relatives.

Election Goes Off Quietly.

The above has become a common expression in Garrard county in late years, and the last election was no exception, there being not a fracas of any kind to mar the day.

We are sorry to note that other parts of the old Commonwealth were not so fortunate. "Bloody Breckinridge," especially upholding her reputation, eight men killed and as many more wounded in election rows in that county.

Decorate For Armistice Day

Several of the merchants of the city had their windows decorated in American Legion colors last week for "Armistice Day." Joseph's and J. E. Dickerson and Sons were very attractive, the other merchants having flags and similar decorations keeping in touch with the day.

We are pleased to note that they are this week decorating in honor of the High School, and Josephs have some very attractive high school colors with a large white hutton with L. H. S. on same that they are selling at 25cts. each.

House Hunters Busy.

Just about this time of year the house hunter begins to get busy, seeking a domicile for the coming year. While there is no particular scarcity of dwellings for rent in Lancaster at present, yet the wary ones are seeking most suitable locations, and before the coming of the new year the search may become as animated one.

GARRARD COUNTY

GOES BOUNCING OVER

The Greatest Of All Campaigns Comes To A
Successful Close With Garrard On The Right Side Of The Ledger.

Over By 82 1/2 Per Cent.

One of the hardest worked campaigns ever launched in Garrard, came to a successful end on last Monday night, and when all contracts had been accounted for with all the figures told that Garrard County had signed her part of tobacco in the Cooperative Tobacco Marketing Association that was started here some few months ago.

The farmers of this county should consider themselves fortunate in being into this association and uniting themselves to get a reasonable profit for their tobacco, to stabilize the price of the weed and thus promote better living conditions.

Judge Robert Worth Hingham, the father of this movement, who has given both his time and money for the cause, stated in his last speech that he wanted to take the women and children out of the Kentucky tobacco patch, and it looks now that the air castles that he was building will be constructed into real buildings.

To put Garrard over in this movement was no little task and it required the cooperation of everyone and it was the interest that was put into this work to make it a go, not only did the farmers of the county join, but also their city brothers, who rallied to the cause whenever called upon. Having to the fact that Garrard raises so much tobacco, it required a little longer to get her to sign up, to put her in the same class with her sister counties.

As stated above everyone worked unceasingly to put this movement over, however, too much credit cannot be given Judge Lewis L. Walker, County Chairman, and Mr. J. M. Farra, who have neglected all of their business to devote their entire time to this, and it was their untiring efforts that has made this plan to work in Garrard, then, too, the County precinct chairmen and their assistants, have worked and have given the matter much attention.

1,483 contracts were signed, making a total of 3,886,197 pounds or 82 1/2 per cent.

The list of those who signed since the last issue will be found on page ten of this issue.

Prices Fluctuate.

Mr. F. T. Barnett, the well known Buckeye pike farmer, gives us the following illustrate of the difference in prices now and two years ago:

Two years ago Mr. Barnett had occasion to have new rubber tires put on his buggy; he paid for the work with ten bushels of corn and had one dollar balance left from what he received for the corn. This year he had occasion to have the same work done on the same buggy, but it took the proceeds of 30 bushels of corn, and left Mr. Barnett 50 cents in the hole.

Moral: Pool your tobacco, and you will doubtless be so pleased with the result that before your buggy again needs re-tiring you will have an opportunity to pool your corn, and the old two bushel price will return.

Some Mustard.

Mr. Luther B. Roney brought to the Record office, and it is now on exhibition in our window, a plant of the white curly mustard variety, which is called a "whopper." The plant is 3 feet tall and weighed 20 pounds, and would have made several "messes" for a large size family.

Miss Aubrey Bourne and Mr. A. M. Marida brought in two of the largest turnips we have ever seen and the fine box of July fresh potatoes grown by S. J. Bourne would take the blue ribbon anywhere.

Notice.

Owing to the fact that the Record office is expecting an invitation out to eat Turkey with some of their friends, we ask that all correspondents have in their letters to reach us not later than Monday, and the merchants are asked to have their change of ads to be in the office at the same time.

The Record next week will be published on Wednesday. We ask that all of our readers do not speak at once, to ask us to eat Thanksgiving dinner, we will accept the first invitation.

The Record Laboring Under Difficulties.

The Record force has been playing in hard luck the past few weeks. Manager Elkin, who is in Boston at the bedside of his wife, does not know positively when he will be able to return. During his absence, Mr. George Smith, who can always be depended upon to assist in time of need, had the misfortune to severely sprain his ankle and was confined to his room for a week. Editor Robinson has been confined to his room with a severe cold. Thus the entire work has fallen upon the shoulders of the foreman, Mr. Len Miller. He, however, has been fully equal to the occasion and the Record has come out as regularly and in as good shape as if the entire force was up and working full time.

A Fitting Tribute

A handsome marble shaft has just been placed at the grave of Rev. George O. Barnes, the beloved Kentucky evangelist, whose memory is yet dear to the hearts of many Lancaster people.

The memorial was erected by popular subscription, and was raised principally through the efforts of Ed. I. Walton of Stanford, one of Bro. Barnes' warmest friends and admirers.

One of the greatest and most successful revivals ever held in Lancaster was the one conducted by Bro. Barnes, when the old court house was crowded at each meeting to hear his doctrine of "God is love," and to the strains of the little organ and the sweet voice of Miss Marie, many were converted.

Campbell Boy Beats Father's Corn Yield.

A Campbell county junior agricultural club boy has demonstrated again that it is sometimes possible for boys to produce better corn and livestock than their fathers by following prescribed practices. A report from County Agent, H. F. Link states that one of the young corn growers in the county produced more than 85 bushels of corn on an acre or a 30 per cent greater yield than was obtained by his father in the same field. No commercial fertilizer was used in either case, the difference in yield being due to the application of manure, the use of good seed and correct cultivation, the report states.

Yea, Brother, That Is The Kind Garrard Grows.

If one great and glorious pie was made of the Lancaster Record's 102 1/2 pound pumpkin that is eight feet in circumference it would symbolize the prosperity America would enjoy if labor disputes and lobbyists' projects were out of the way, and all hands hard at work, and everyone singing at his work.—Ex.

Splendid Woman Ill.

Mrs. Holly Brown has been seriously ill at the home of her son, Postmaster E. F. Brown, on Stanford street, and her host of friends are hoping for her speedy recovery. "Miss Holly," as she is known to her friends and admirers, is one of the best known and most popular ladies in Garrard county, her pleasant smile and cheery word making a friend for her of everyone with whom she comes in contact. She has until very recently served as assistant postmaster in the Lancaster office.

GYMNASIUM

Needed At The L. H. S.
Building.

One of the most needed buildings now is a gymnasium that is badly needed at the Lancaster High School. We have all endorsed athletics in the schools and now as bad weather will soon be upon us and as the foot ball season is rapidly coming to a close, basket ball will be the go. L. H. S. can have two good teams, and the only thing that we need is some place to practice and play. Let's get busy and put in some kind of a building to promote this great winter game in the school.

A Mid-Winter Fair.

The Mercer Chamber of Commerce is going to put on a big Mid-Winter Agricultural Fair in one of the large tobacco warehouses in Harrodsburg on December 3rd. The reason for holding the winter fair is that there are many farm products that are not practical to attempt to exhibit at the summer fair. The preliminary list shows classifications on the following items: Tobacco, corn, wheat, rye, oats, barley, hemp, pumpkins, kershaws, turnips, cabbage, Irish potatoes, butter, cream, flour, meal, and poultry. There will also be a merchant's and manufacturers' display. Entries free to all. Admission free and free lunch will be served. All out of town tobacco entries must be in the day previous or by 8 A. M. morning of exhibit. Any county may enter competition as Mercer county wishes for her citizens to see the best products of the farm. The premium list already amounts to $1,000. The highest prizes are on tobacco and corn. A big social event is being planned for the evening.

Revival At The Christian Church.

Revival services began at the Lancaster Christian Church last Sunday evening and will last through the 27th.

Rev. M. A. Hart, of Danville is preaching and is delivering some wonderful sermons, and is having large crowds.

Miss Kathryn Warriner, of Danville is directing the music and is adding much to the services.

Green.

Mr. Jas. A. Green, age 66, a prosperous farmer of Marcellus, died in a Lexington Hospital Wednesday from complication of diseases. Mr. Green was a life long member of the Christian Church of Pleasant Grove, having united with the Christian church in his early boyhood days.

Mr. Green leaves three sisters, Miss Bettie Green and Mrs. Garrett Wood of this city and Mrs. Ellis Stone, of Cincinnati, his wife having preceded him to the grave some two years ago.

His remains will be buried in Danville tomorrow (Friday) at 11 o'clock.

Meeting Temporarily.

The "cottage prayer meetings," which the ladies of Lexington street have been conducting, have been temporarily suspended, through a spirit of cooperation with the revival services at the Christian church. The meetings will be resumed immediately after the revival closes, the first one to be held with Mrs. C. B. Hastin.

Sorry He Lost It.

John F. Walker, as good a democrat as ever stamped under the rooster, came all the way from Mississippi to cast his ballot under the party emblem, but his business affairs demanded his return even before he could ascertain the result of the election. However, defeat will not deter him, and the next election will find him making the same trip for the same purpose.

Striving To A Good End

The Disarmament of Peace Congress is under good headway, and diplomatic representatives from all the countries holding membership are in attendance, and it seems that all are earnestly striving to the end that with the coming of Thanksgiving "Peace on earth, good will toward men" may have a deeper significance.

The Buckeye Girls' Sewing Club will give a play, entitled "The Rainbow Kimona" on Tuesday evening, Nov. 22nd, at 7:30 o'clock, at the Buckeye Building. Admission—15 and 25cts. Proceeds to be used for School Library. Everybody invited.

LEBANON

Coach Carrier's Men
Are All Stars.

The Lebanon High School Football team journeyed to Lancaster last Friday afternoon and returned to their Marion County homes suffering with a 54 to 0 defeat at the hands of Capt. Cox and his string of warriors.

This game was a very much one-sided affair and Coach Carrier in the last half formed an entire new team and skived in all of his second string men to see how well they could perform under fire.

Touchdowns were made at will during the game and most every man displayed that he could be counted upon to advance the pig skin whenever called upon. The Captain attempted one drop kick during the game from the fifty yard line but the ball fell short by about 5 feet.

SOUR MILK VERY USEFUL AS FOOD

Has Some Food It Originally Had Because It Is Source of Lime for Bone Building.

LACTIC ACID IS HEALTHFUL

Clabber is Refreshing and Wholesome by Many People, Especially if Served With Sugar and Sweet Cream.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

"Accidents will happen in the best regulated families." In spite of the most careful protection from dusts, flies or exposure to the sun, milk occasionally becomes sour in the refrigerator during the hottest months. It may be that there is more left-over milk than usual, or that heat or thunder have affected the milk. Sour milk, nevertheless, has the same food value as it had originally. Specialists in the United States Department of Agriculture say, because it is still a source of lime for bone building of protein for tissue repair.

Lactic Acid Considered Healthful

The bacteria which have caused souring are not necessarily harmful, if the milk was properly cared for, and the effect of those which caused the development of the lactic acid in the milk is thought by some to be beneficial. Many who cannot get milk to drink like to churn thick, freshly soured milk with an egg bent, or till the curds are broken up into fine particles and use it in the same way.

Clabber—the congealed, semiliquid state of fresh sour milk—is relished as refreshing and wholesome by many people, especially if served with sugar and sweet cream. The addition of maple syrup, honey, orange marmalade, or other preserves to clabbered cream makes a delicious dessert. To cook and cake baking can be made of thick sour cream, whipped and sweetened with nuts added. Whipped sour cream is often added to unvarnished salad dressing for fruit salads.

"Just One More Cookie, Grandma Please!"

No housewife needs to be told that good clabbering can be made with sour milk as well as with brands of various kinds. In many recipes where sour milk is used as a leaven with eggs, flour, eggs are called for. Very good pancakes and cornbread can be made with sour milk, cooking eggs, corn, fat, and sugar. Brown Bread, Corn Meal as a Food and Ways of Using It, gives recipes that use recipes calling for the sour milk. Among them is this one for making Bread Brown Bread:

Bread Brown Bread

1 cupful of sour milk
1 cupful of corn meal
1 cupful of wheat flour
1 cupful of sugar
1 cupful of molasses
1 cupful of butter
1 cupful of eggs
1 cupful of oil
1 cupful of soda
1 cupful of yeast
1 cupful of salt
1 cupful of water

Mix and salt, mix dry ingredients and add the molasses and milk. Beat thoroughly and strain. My house is a different country, and I use corn meal for baking powder. This is safe to do. Remove the layers and bake the bread long enough to dry the top.

This may be made also with the eggs, corn meal, and sugar, and the molasses, and a cupful of seed oil and shredded corn, or prunes or a cupful of currants may be added.

This serves eight people.

There is only a very little sour milk in food, why not make some cookies? They may be made with corn meal and butter. These are also excellent.

Corn Meal Cookies

1 cupful of fat
1 cupful of sugar
1 cupful of eggs
1 cupful of corn meal
1 cupful of wheat flour
1 cupful of soda
1 cupful of yeast
1 cupful of salt
1 cupful of water

1 cupful of sour milk

Combine the melted fat, sugar, molasses, beaten eggs, and sour milk. Stir together the corn meal, soda, and flour. Add the liquid ingredients to the dry ingredients. Drop from a teaspoon into a greased pan and bake 15 minutes in a moderate oven. This recipe makes 35 to 60 cookies 2 inches in diameter.

Sour milk or buttermilk and baking soda may frequently be substituted where the recipe calls for sweet milk. In place of one teaspoonful of baking powder a scant half teaspoonful of soda is used to each cupful of sour milk. Chocolate cake is particularly good when this substitution is made.

The Humble Clothcap.
Every Monday morning thousands of pulley lines squeak and thousands of clothespins are jabbed into place. In spite of many new inventions, people the world over still use the primitive wooden clothespin designed years ago by a New Hampshire man. Twenty million feet of lumber are said to be needed each year to supply the clothespin manufacturers in the United States.

Origin of Wedding Cake.
The wedding cake dates back to the laws of Rome and the early days of Rome. Instead of elaborate marriage feasts Romans instituted the confarreatio. The union of the man and woman was solemnized simply and quickly by the eating of a loaf of barley bread together. This marriage ceremony was in force for some generations among the Romans. Then, as civilization developed, the barley bread became a cake.

Lancaster School Notes

Foot Ball Game.
L. H. S. defeated Lebanon H. S. last Friday by the score of 53 to 0. L. H. S. boys completely outclassed the visitors. The work of Capt. Coy, Robinson, Castineau, Lawson and Anderson were especially the features of the game. Lawson intercepted two good forward passes, racing for touchdowns. Coy and Robinson made some fine end runs, each scoring touchdowns for the local team. Lancaster Legionnaires defeated the Pine Lick Legionnaires by the score of 20 to 0. All the players did good work in the game.

All these peaks are in the Bearfoot National forest, in Carbon county, in the north central part of the state. The highest of these is Granite peak, 12,834 feet; the next highest is Mount Wood, 12,750 feet.

Sir William J. Herschel, grandson of the English astronomer, Sir William Herschel, is known as the discoverer and developer of the finger print system of identification, now in general use as a method of identifying criminals. Sir William J. Herschel, who died in England in 1871, was an official in the civil service in India from 1855 to 1858, and discovered the use of finger prints in 1858, utilizing it as a means of identification for civil purposes in Bengal.

American Legion News

Members of the American Legion, who served with the United States forces in France, will be called upon to give facts relating to Senator Watson's charge that American soldiers were shot and hanged in France without formality of a court-martial. Secretary of War Weeks in a request to Commander Hamford MacNider for the Legion's co-operation said the War Department desired to prove or definitely refute the Georgian Senator's allegations. Lemuel Bolles, national adjutant of the Legion said he was sure the National Commanders would co-operate.

There is one officer to every seven men in the United States army, according to information received by the American Legion. It was explained by the War Department that the high proportion of officers was due to the present army policy of maintaining an army capable of quick expansion in time of war. The army today numbers 138,000 of which number 18,000 are officers.

The first official act of Hamford MacNider, newly elected national commander of the American Legion, was his attendance at the Armistice Day ceremonies at Arlington as representative of the majority of ex-service men in the United States. He will remain at Washington during the disarmament conference. MacNider's election has been approved by the Legionnaires everywhere. "He is exactly the type of man we want to lead us," seems to be the unanimous comment. The impressive things about the new commander are that he went into the army a buck private and came out a lieutenant colonel with 11 citations and nine decorations; that at the age of 32 he is head of a large banking business in Iowa and that he is a "Harvard man without the Harvard accent." He has been hailed everywhere as a "real soldier."

A post of the American Legion composed entirely of World War veterans of Polish descent has been formed at Toledo, Ohio and is known as Argonne post. Frank Szumigala is the commander, Stanley J. Grzesinski is vice commander and Joseph Malinkowski is adjutant.

Ray Phillips, member of the American Legion at Nashville, Tenn., received a five-pound box of candy in the mail and wondered who loved him. After eating some of the candy he was sent to the hospital, where physicians pronounced his condition critical. The candy contained poison and Phillips is now wondering who hates him. The police are investigating.

A chicken that came into the world "shimmying" and grew to full size in spite of its affliction, was one of the attractions at the "Joy Day" celebration of the Hedrick, Iowa post of the American Legion. It was billed as "the world's only shimmying chicken."

Flying a kite "to keep the wolf away from the door" is the occupation of a World War veteran who during the war flew an airplane in France. The veteran was jobless and the only work the American Legion Employment Bureau at Minneapolis, Minn., could find for him was flying an advertising kite for a film company.

Reunited after seventeen years separation, Frank and Joseph Payne, who had been placed in an orphanage in St. Louis in early childhood, found in comparing the war experiences that they had sought safety in the same shell hole in the Argonne, but did not at the same time know they were brothers. The reunion occurred at Kansas City, Mo.

The mayor and chief of police of Lincoln, Neb., have endorsed a plan for the employment of jobless ex-service men as night watchmen to aid the police department in suppressing crime.

PEPTO-MANGAN

KEEPS THE BLOOD PURE
Growing Children Need Plenty Of Red Cells In Blood.

When the young body is growing, children frequently experience weakness. Girls and boys sometimes play too hard and over-tax their systems. They become pale, weak, and sickly. They lose their appetites, become languid, and are not able to make progress in school work. "Growing too fast" is often true. It is most important to keep the blood of growing girls and boys in a healthy state. Pepto-Mangan keeps the blood pure. The red cells in the blood are increased. They carry life-giving oxygen to all parts of the body, and wholesome youthfulness blooms again in clear complexions, bright eyes and buoyant spirits. Sold both in liquid and tablet form by druggists everywhere. The name "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" is on the package. Advertisement.

Glaciers are numerous about Prince William sound in Alaska. In one arm of the sound there are 11 within a range of nine miles, says the American Forestry Magazine. When the Harriman expedition explored the sound, the arm in which these glaciers occur was called "College fjord" and each glacier was given the name of some American institution of learning; the largest are known as "Yale" and "Harvard."

Reading and Thinking.
Those who have read of everything are thought to understand everything, too; but it is not always so. Reading furnishes the mind only with materials of knowledge. It is thinking that makes what is read ours. We are of the ruminating kind, and it is not enough to cram ourselves with a great load of collections; unless we chew them over again they will not give us strength and nourishment. John Locke.

The Burden of a Name.
"Few great men's sons ever amount to much," said a man at the club the other evening. Someone remarked to him: 'I cannot understand how it is that you, with your great interest in and knowledge of public affairs, have taken so little part in them.' 'Ah,' replied the duke, 'if you had sat so long under the shadow of a great tree you would have been as colorless as I.'"

LATE VARIETIES OF FRUITS FOR DRYING

Apples Should Be Reasonably Mature but Not Soft.

Care Should be Exercised in Picking and Handling to Avoid Bruising—Get Peeled Product Into Evaporator Quickly.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

Late winter varieties of apples and pears are best for drying because they are sweeter than the early varieties. Apples for drying should be reasonably mature but not soft, according to specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. Handle with care in picking and handling so as to avoid bruising, as bruised spots become discolored and must be removed, off to make an attractive product. Apples discolor rapidly. Preparations therefore, must be made to get the product into the evaporator as rapidly as possible after it is peeled. If a number of people are doing this work, this may be accomplished by dividing the piling, coring and spreading on trays, so that an apple spends only two or three minutes on the way from the piling knife to the drier.

If only one person is working, drop the peeled fruit either into cold water or into a salt solution made by dissolving one tablespoonful of salt in two quarts of water. Do not allow the fruit to stand in the water any longer than is necessary, because the water will dissolve the sugar and other valuable elements and the apple will absorb water, which will necessitate longer drying in the evaporator. Carefully pare and trim the product to remove all discolored places. When a piling and coring machine is used, the apples, before being placed in it, should be worked over with a knife to remove all discolored spots.

Care should be taken when slicing the fruit to make the slices as nearly the same thickness as possible. Three-sixteenths to one-fourth inch is the best thickness. Apples may be quartered or cut into eighths, but they do not dry so uniformly or so quickly as the sliced rings. The rings may be blanched in hot water or not as desired. Spread the rings in a single layer on trays and place either in the sun or in a warm drier. Apples when drying should be covered with muslin or mosquito netting to prevent insect infestation. A few minutes' exposure will often cause the products to be infested.

Dried apples that are brown or discolored, colored from the discoloration resulting from drying without blanching possess as high nutritive value and often have a better flavor than the more attractive looking blanching products.

Dried apples will not be brittle when finished, but if a handful of the pieces are pressed together they will feel elastic and springy and will separate promptly when released, leaving no moisture on the hands. When one of the pieces is broken in two, it should not be possible to press moisture out of the center.

Household Questions

Once a year every cellar should be whitewashed to exterminate it.

Old fish with rancid water in them are famous mosquito breeders.

Spaghetti with carrot balls is an attractive and wholesome mixture.

If pies are baked with milk before baking they will turn a delicate brown.

Keep honey in the dark. If exposed to the light it will quickly granulate.

A whiskbroom is very handy for cleaning woodwork and removing dirt from corners.

If your dillpickle is dingy it can be brightened by washing it with water in which a little borax has been dissolved.

If grease is dropped on the kitchen floor put soda on it then pour boiling water on, and the spot will come out easily.

A handy article about the kitchen is a long-handled spoon such as is used at the soda fountain for ice cream sodas.

The kitchen floor is best covered with linoleum, cemented to the floor to prevent it from buckling and to make it waterproof.

If children's light or white suits become faded or streaked it is a good idea to dye them some darker color suitable for play clothes.

Snap dress shields instead of sewing them in. Place a snap on each end of the shield and one in the middle. It keeps them where they belong.

White of egg is nourishing and should be given freely to invalids. Beat it slightly and add to tea or coffee; or it may be stirred into any kind of farinaceous food just before serving.

The Two Amendments.

We do not the least lit regret the defeat of the two amendments. Our objection was not based upon the idea that amendments were smoke screened plans of partisan politicians, through the success of which it was hoped to organize a political machine. Although judging from the workings in this county of the last school law enacted by the republican administration, by which the local repudlian machine seized upon its provisions, and turned the schools in this county from a non partisan state into an auxiliary republican organization, this being common knowledge, causes us to have some misgivings as to the purposes behind the proposed defeated amendments.

We are heartily in favor of any and all plans which fairly promise to give us better schools in this state. We have in the past years had a school system that did not meet the requirements. The past generation has been poorly educated. Our poor school system in days of old, has produced lamentable and unhappy conditions. But there has been wonderful progress in the past fifteen years. We should not permit the purpose to mend the mistakes of a former generation to lead astray from the paths of reason.

Amendment I assumed that an appointed body or a centralized appointive head would more wisely select the school leadership for Kentucky. In this we do not agree. Let the people select the head of the schools of the state.

Those who are interested in better schools, be active in presenting the merits of those who would serve to direct the school systems and the people will elect them. Our schools will continue to improve, and will soon be adequate to meet the demands of the day. We want to do our part to keep step with the spirit of the times for better schools.

Let Us Give Thanks.

Thursday, November 24, has been designated by the ruler of our country as the day upon which we are to give thanks to the Ruler of the Universe—to the Maker and the Giver of all things.

We will go to church, eat our turkey, and spend a day free from the cares of life.

The fires in our homes will burn brightly, and the joy in our hearts will be supreme.

But why will it be so?

How many of us will give serious thought to those incomparable blessings for which we should render our profound and grateful homage to Deity?

We live in a land of peace and plenty, yet the world around us is torn, and bleeding, and no bended knees of supplication, earnestly pleading for the commercial and political restoration that means life and liberty to them.

We have health and happiness, while many other nations of the earth are bowed under the weight of distress and hunger, and are groaning in the depths of despair.

We have education and enlightenment, while millions in other lands are growing to maturity under the blight of ignorance and superstition.

Peace and plenty—health and happiness—education and enlightenment!

What more could mortal Christian desire?

With all of these we have been abundantly endowed by the Creator of the heavens and the earth.

It is because of His great love for us that He bestows these wonderful blessings upon us.

A life of love and veneration would be slight recompense for even one of these precious gifts.

As we receive, so should we bestow.

Let us give thanks.

Little Thoughts

On Big Topics.

Why is so many public officials think invariably of self and so seldom of the public welfare?

That question has been asked by millions of people many millions of times, yet the answer is simple.

Our political system creates politicians instead of statesmen, men who too often exploit the offices they hold for their own and their party's welfare instead of administering them for the ultimate good of all. This is made possible only in one way. In the heat of a campaign the politician turns heaven and earth in an effort to get every one of his ilk to the polls to vote, and the invariably succeeds. The clean minded citizen has been fed upon exploitation until he remains away from the polls in sheer disgust, feeling that it is little better than a waste of time to choose between two evils—handpicked candidates of the two great parties. Then again, there are others who apparently think less of the public welfare than they do of losing the few hours required to vote. Thus the spoilsman often wins.

If every man and woman in America who believes in placing men of high character and integrity in public office would go to the trouble of voting the spoilsman would soon cease to be a menace.

There is no question but what the great majority of our people want good men in public positions, but it is a far cry from wanting them there and going to the polls and placing them there.

What, then, is the remedy? Compulsory voting!

The man or woman who enjoys the right of franchise and is not patriotic enough to exercise that right by voting should be compelled by law to do so.

How could such a law be enforced? Again it is very simple.

Let the penalty for failure to vote be the loss of franchise if the person is without property, and without legitimate excuse, or an increase of 25 per cent in his assessment, if a tax payer.

The man or woman who is in the habit of voting could have no valid objection to such a law. Others need it in order to jar them into realizing the responsibility of citizenship.

We of America have received, welcomed and honored Ferdinand Foch, marshal of France, most illustrious general of his time, and rival of Napoleon Bonaparte and Alexander the Great.

He is the greatest soldier on earth today, and now he has seen the greatest country of the earth. But seeing is not understanding. The famous marshal has much yet to learn about America, and of her people, and of their habits and customs. And without this knowledge there can be no correct understanding.

France should send also her keenest minds of the commercial world to our country, men who will investigate and appreciate the methods by which we have sprung from an infant nation to a position of commanding power among the peoples of the world, and that within a few short years of time. It would serve to remove the feeling of suspicion and antagonism which many of the French entertain toward us, and which is felt to a certain extent in this country toward the people of France.

We do not understand the French, and the French do not understand us. That was clearly demonstrated when our troops came in contact with them during the world war. It left anything but the friendly feeling both nations could desire.

Great generals win battles and save countries when their people are at war, but it requires the keen vision of the productive genius to maintain a nation on a prosperous plane in time of peace.

The two great republics of the earth should have a closer understanding, both politically and commercially. Each has much to learn from the other. Both would materially benefit from the contact.

Let the thrice welcome visit of the victor in the war be followed by others from victors in the realm of peace.

We need it, the French need it, and neither France nor America has anything to lose from a broader knowledge and understanding of the other.

As The Editor Sees It.

The Japanese ambassador at Washington is refreshingly frank and to the point. He suggests that the American and Japanese could come to a better understanding if the practice of backbiting could be eliminated.

Possibly he is right, but we imagine his remarks would be applicable to Japan as well as to this country.

Nations and people have a right to express their opinions in a straight forward and manly way, and it is not to be expected that they will always agree. But backbiting is conducive to friction and trouble. No good ever comes from it.

If we don't want our women to marry Japanese men that is our business. If the Japanese don't want our men to marry their women, that is their business. Neither has a right to object, although we understand that is one of the reasons the Japanese have for their feeling of resentment toward us.

Our cards are on the table, gentlemen of Nippon. Put yours there and we will have less cause for future trouble.

Our national capital is overflowing with the keenest minds of the nations of the earth, sent by their governments to advise with the delegates to the disarmament conference.

When the conference ends it would be well if each of these specialists could make a tour of this country and study closely our American methods of doing business.

All of the wisdom of the world of commerce is not centered in the countries across the water. The fact that America has grown from an infant to a giant within a short time would indicate that at least a portion of that wisdom is to be found in this land of freedom and progress. Europe might benefit by absorbing some of it. Certainly we would benefit from so close a contact with the wise men of other nations.

Then there is another side to the subject.

Foreign countries have reduced the cultivation of the soil and the practice of economy to a science. In this we have much to learn from them, knowledge that would be of inestimable value to us.

We of America are inordinately extravagant and criminally wasteful, while the average European or Asiatic is just the reverse.

We might well take many lessons from them in the development of agriculture and the practice of economy.

A closer interchange of ideas and thoughts would be beneficial to the peoples of both the old and the new worlds.

Hold onto your liberty bonds. Don't let anyone cajole you into selling them for less than par. They are slowly but surely rising in value, and after the high rates of interest come down the bonds will shoot up again in value.

If congress had the nerve to back the financial tiger it would pass a law compelling every person to accept the bonds at par with accrued interest when tendered in lieu of currency.

That of course would not please the speculators in bonds but it would be a boon to the millions of poor people who were induced to buy bonds "until it hurt."

The indifference with which many people view the disarmament conference at Washington indicates that they do not fully realize that the future of this country may be swaying in the balance.

If the conference accomplishes definite results we probably will enjoy a long period of peace. If they fail, another world war is inevitable in order to adjust the political and commercial differences that are exasperating Europe and Asia with every setting of the sun. In such an event the United States cannot hope to escape.

The day is past when we can sit calmly on the fence and watch the other fellows "go to it." Some nation will be sure to kick the fence from beneath us, as the kaiser did in the last war.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 14.—Dr. Lewis S. McMatry was elected president of the State Board of Health at a meeting of the members of the board held here this afternoon, succeeding in this capacity Dr. John V. Smith, whose resignation was accepted by Governor Morrow ten days ago when Dr. Smith left to assume his duties as assistant plenipotentiary at Panama.

Dr. McMatry is one of the best known physicians in Kentucky and has held practically every position of dignity and honor within the power of the medical profession to bestow. He has been president of the American Medical Association, of the Kentucky State Medical Association, of the Jefferson County Medical Board and of the Southern Surgical and Gynecological Association. At the present time in addition to being a practicing physician, he also is president of the faculty of the Medical Department of the University of Louisville. For many years he has been at the head of the Northern Indiana hospital here.

In the Earth's Interior.
From the evidence available H. D. Gifford traces three distinct crusts in the earth's interior. The solid outer crust, with a thickness of 5 to 10 per cent of the radius for twenty to forty miles, has high permanent rigidity, but from unknown causes has been subject to deformations, with displacements of as much as 500 miles vertically and 1000 laterally.

Robin Hood's Proper Name.
The proper name of Robin Hood was Robert Fitzooth. The first he nicknamed into Robin, and the second into Hood, meaning the Fitz which is Norman for son (modern French being "fils"), since having been declared an outlaw, he was not thinking to recognize his claims to Norman descent. That he was really the earl of Hunt-Ingdon, as some historians assert, can not be proved.

Suspended Animation.
Insects which spend most of their lives in a torpid or semi-torpid condition are seldom injured and never killed by being frozen. There are numerous instances of travelers in mountain regions having found bees and butterflies above the snow line which were still frozen and apparently dead. When carried down to the warmer air in the valleys, however, they revived in a very short time.

Valuable Ideas From a Game.
I often think that the most valuable things we can learn are gained by chance or by accident. One day I saw a Newton's apple fall from the apple tree, and I thought of the laws of motion as they applied to the motion of a ball. And the story of the boy who found the two bottles with the dynamite inside but overlooked the fact that the dynamite was exploding, and blowing away the two bottles, is a very good illustration of the value of a game.

When Art Failed.
This is a true story of an adventure of two lady artists in Santa Spain. They were walking and arrived at a little country inn, hot, dusty and filthy. They conducted talk Spanish, but wanted some milk, really so one of them drew a most beautiful high-art, out, while the other flung some coins. The Spaniards looked and a boy was sent off post haste. In half an hour the boy returned, but not triumphant with two pails for a highlight. From the kitchen came two pails.

Roof of Washington's Home.
The wood shingle roof of George Washington's home at Mount Vernon was repaired by him in 1782, and was again repaired until 1820, and of 25 years, says the American Forestry Magazine of Washington. There have been many instances found of shingle roofs have lasted satisfactorily for 50 years and even 100 years. It is not at all unreasonable to suppose that a lifetime to build a shingle roof is a lifetime to build a shingle roof. The old shingle roof of the house of the first president of the United States was built in 1750 and is still in good condition.

DEMOCRATS OF KENTUCKY Are To Meet For A Big Day And Talk Over Party Affairs

Copy Of Official Call Issued By The Democratic State Central And Executive Committee

My dear sir:

In line with the policy adopted by the Democratic State Central and Executive Committee of a square deal for the citizen voters of Kentucky and within the limitations of the authority vested in me as Chairman of the Committee and the authority of the Committee, you are hereby requested and called to meet at the Seelbach Hotel on the 10th day of November, at two o'clock P. M., for a conference.

We have no more authority than was given us by the Convention from which we derived our powers and which created us, therefore we can not properly encourage book principles or policies nor can we without usurpation of authority, determine the application of any principle already declared for in party platform to any given condition, and we need our Democratic legislators. We can, however, confer upon the abuses of power and failure of the present administration at Frankfort to keep faith with the people, and how these abuses and failures should be met and remedied by the Democratic control of the House and Senate. This the people of the State are demanding by an overwhelming vote in the last election.

We can and should organize and direct together with our Democratic representatives an effort, toward an honest program looking to the enlightened constructive and united handling of party authority in legislative work. This can best be done by a joint conference of our committee, the Democratic members of the Legislature, our Representatives in the United States Congress and Senate, and leading Democrats over the State.

We should attend, since a conference with open minds, unpledged and unembarrassed by any previous agreement, secret influence, or private control. We should at once if our party above the reproach of the propagandist who would break the faith of the citizens by the insidious suggestions of malign influences or unworthy obligations.

The eyes of the country are upon us. The problems that confront the State have been generously intrusted to us in the majorities of both Houses of the Legislature. We are expected to work to the future of our State in the interest of all the people regardless of party. This should be done with clean hands and we should hold them up where they can be seen. Wherefore this call for the purposes herein indicated.

Very sincerely yours,
Signed: Louis A. Hardin,
Chairman

Exercise Important For Pregnant Sheep.

Daily exercises for the pregnant ewe fills an important place in keeping up the circulation of blood and in putting the digestive tract in the best condition and for these reasons should not be overlooked if the flock is to be successfully managed during that period, according to sheep specialists. Forced exercises may be necessary at times when ewes will not take it of their own accord but care should be practiced at all times to see that violent exertion is avoided.

One of the best ways to induce the animals to take exercise is to scatter roughage over the ground at some distance from the shelter of the ewes so that they will be compelled to work to get it. Corn stover set in a check serves well for this purpose and provides food for the animals with a small amount of waste, according to L. J. Horlacher, in charge of the sheep husbandry at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.

In some cases exercises for the ewes may be obtained by driving them at a moderate pace for about fifteen minutes each day. However, some ewes are too heavy to be driven without injury to themselves and for this reason this means is not always advisable. Driving the animals through deep, stiff mud is apt to prove harmful. In order to avoid violent exercises care should be taken to see that dogs are not allowed to chase the sheep. They should not be allowed to jump over obstacles or to crowd through narrow doors.

Mr. Stinson will use different plots and make separate and combined tests of acid phosphate at the rate of 200 to 100 pounds an acre, rock phosphate at the rate of 1,000 to 2,000 pounds an acre, limestone at the rate of one to two tons an acre and farm manure at the rate of five to ten tons an acre.

Wheat Growing Contest Is On In Graves County.

In order to stimulate the production of bigger yields of wheat in all parts of the county, Graves county judges, bankers and local farmers' organizations cooperating with County Agent B. H. Mitchell have donated a total of five barrels of flour and $50 in cash to be awarded as prizes in a wheat growing contest which was started this fall.

The farmer growing and covering the largest amount of wheat will receive the five barrels of flour. The farmers who produce the most bushels of wheat an acre of five acres or more will receive $25.00. A similar prize will be given to the farmer who produces wheat at the least cost a bushel on five acres or more.

900 Livingston Farmers Attend Community Meets.

Livingston county farmers are using community meetings to a good advantage in solving the various problems of their farm community schools recently held under the direction of County Agent L. T. Pace. More than 900 farmers attended the eight meetings which are held in different communities of the county.

Livestock and soils and crops subjects were the principal ones discussed by the farmers. R. C. Miller, sheep extension specialist from the College of Agriculture and R. E. Stephenson, soils and crops specialist of the college, gave short talks on these phases of farming after which they led discussions by the farmers on problems connected with these subjects in the county.

PLAN LIVESTOCK PRODUCERS BODY

U. S. Co-operative Marketing Association Is Decided Upon At Meeting.

Chicago, (Associated Press)—Livestock producers gathered here recently, adopted the plan for a national co-operative marketing system, prepared by a committee of fifteen appointed by J. R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The plan according to Mr. Howard, "sets up farmer-owned and controlled livestock commission houses at the stockyards; provides a plan for orderly marketing so as to prevent glut on the market and the consequent sharp decline in price; and represents the natural development of the co-operative livestock shipping association movement."

The scheme is the second co-operative movement launched by the Farm Bureau Federation. Another committee of fifteen last spring laid down plans for a national grain marketing system which materialized in the United States Grain Growers, incorporated. Unlike the grain plan, however, the livestock scheme does not call for pools or long period contracts.

The existing co-operative livestock commission companies are to be supported, a programme of orderly marketing worked out, a transportation department created, livestock statistics interpreted and the public is to be educated to understand the advantage of meat as a food.

The committee of fifteen, which prepared the plan included Harry G. Beale, Mount Sterling, Ohio; Howard M. Gore, Clarksville, Va.; and J. R. Skinner, Lafayette, Ind.

GIVES GOOD PICKLE FLAVOR

Spiced Vinegar Is Frequently Valuable for Pickling—Has Use for Garnish

Spiced vinegar is used in making pickles, for flavoring gravies, potato salad, and similar dishes. For pickling it is especially valuable as the flavor from spiced vinegar is the same all through the pickles, while if pepper, cloves, and dill are added directly to the pickles the flavor is more concentrated at the places where these spices are put. The herbs from which the spiced vinegar is made may be used as a garnish by mixing them in the pickle.

An excellent spiced vinegar is made by filling a wide-mouthed bottle or a fruit jar to within two inches of the top with spiced plants of different kinds, such as slices of horse radish and onions, umbels of dill, ripe seed of white mustard and celery, green seed of nasturtium, fine stems and leaves of tarragon, basil, and sweet marjoram. A pint of red pepper may also be added. The bottle or jar is then filled with vinegar heated to 160 degrees F., corked or sealed and left for about three weeks. At the end of the three weeks, strain the vinegar and fill in small bottles, cork and seal with melted paraffin or sealing wax.

MUCH BENEFIT FROM FRUITS

They Supply Acids and Are Important for Their Flavor and Other Good Reasons

Fruits are very important in the child's diet. They supply mild acids and they are important for their flavor, for their laxative effects, and for their other reasons. This laxative effect is very recognized in the very general use of prunes, orange slices, and apples. Fruits, like the vegetables, have various elements which the body requires. Serve fruits in some form at least once a day.

CHEESE MAKING OFFERS MEANS OF UTILIZING SURPLUS MILK

Simple Equipment for Making Cheddar Cheese at Home

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture
American, or Cheddar type cheese is palatable, rich in food value, and it may be kept for long periods without refrigeration. Every housewife knows of a number of palatable dishes made from cheese which serve as a change in the ordinary diet. As it may be made at any time of the year where there is a surplus of milk, cheese making offers an exceptionally advantageous means of conserving for later use milk which might otherwise be wasted, suggest specialists in the United States Department of Agriculture.

Approximately five or six hours are required from the time the milk is placed in the vat for heating until the cheese is put into the hoops for final pressing and during that time it is not necessary for the operator to give it his entire attention. From this point until the end of two weeks only a few minutes each day are required to turn the cheese. After that time the cheese is turned only once a week, until fully cured. Best results have been obtained in regions where the nights are cool throughout the summer and where cool water may be obtained.

Approximately 100 pounds of cheese are obtained from 100 pounds, or 11.23 gallons of milk containing 4 per cent butter fat. It is important to have fresh, clean, whole milk for cheesemaking. If milk is to be kept overnight it should be cooled to a temperature of 40 degrees F., or lower, and held at that temperature until used. The milk should not be held more than twelve hours, as it is very important that it be perfectly sweet.

A wash boiler, large kettle or tub may be used for cheesemaking, but if cheese is to be made frequently a regular cheese vat is more satisfactory. A cheese vat is so constructed that hot or cool water may be circulated around the milk for regulating the temperature. Control of temperature throughout the manufacturing process is essential. A good thermometer therefore should be used. The milk is heated in the vat or wash boiler to a temperature of 84 degrees F., at which it is held until after the curd has been cut.

Rennet to Curdle the Milk.
Cheese made without the addition of coloring matter is light yellow or straw color; if a deeper shade of yellow is desired a small quantity of coloring is put in the milk. Regular cheese color should be used, and not butter color, as the latter colors the

VEGETABLES NEED CLEANING

Much Care Should Be Exercised Whether Served Raw or Cooked—Use Brush on Potatoes

Wash all vegetables with great care whether served raw or cooked. Scrub large vegetables, such as potatoes and carrots with a brush. Greens should be washed leaf by leaf under running water or in a large amount of water until free from grit and visible dirt. In the latter case, any sand which clings to them is likely to sink. To prevent it from again getting on the vegetables lift them from the water instead of pouring the water off.

All Around the House

The sweetened oatmeal is often used as a dessert.

All canned meats and fish should be removed from the cans as soon as opened.

Try putting a piece of camphor tea away with your silver. It keeps it from tarnishing.

Allow two level teaspoonsful of baking powder to each cupful of flour when no eggs are used.

Two parts of pork fat to one of beef fat form an excellent mixture in which to fry doughnuts.

Take a strip of adhesive plaster, write name and address in ink and stick inside of your umbrella.

Put a little sand in the bottom of Chinese lanterns and they will not sway and will be less apt to take fire.

To cool food quickly fill the lower part of a double boiler with ice or cold water and place food in the upper part.

Oysters Greatest Enemy. The starfish clings with its fleshy fingers to the shells of oysters while its five centrally situated sharp teeth eat a hole through which it can suck the living flesh. It has an insatiable appetite.
